KNOWN DEAD, AND 27 OTHERS MISSING IN DUST EXPLOSION IN CORN STARCH MILL AT PEKIN, ILL.

Worth Too Much To Throw Away

LOCATE DIXMUDE
London, Jan. 3 (INS).—Observation balloons from the French air base at Toulon have located the wreck of the Dixmude in the Mediterranean Sea, three miles south of San Marco, according to a Paris dispatch to the Daily News tonight. The wreck was submerged. Drag nets were used by the balloons.

MUST WANT TO DEPOPULATE THE HOUSE

Washington, Dec. 3. (INS).—A program of prohibition enforcement so drastic that it would bar drinking congressmen from the floor of the House or prohibit American diplomats abroad from taking a drink, was presented to Congress today by Representative William D. Upshaw, Democrat, of Georgia, the leading dry champion of the House.

SENATE AUTHORIZES MAYFIELD INQUIRY

Washington, Jan. 3. (INS).—The Senate today authorized an investigation of the Texas Senator's election.

Washington, Jan. 3. (INS).—Ideas that under the Ku Klux Klan have found an echo in the Johnson immigration bill, declared Louis Marshall prominent New York lawyer, when he appeared before the House immigration committee today to protest against the restriction bill now pending.

1923 NOT A SAFETY FIRST YEAR

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 3. (INS).—More accidents were reported to the Bureau of Workmen's compensation of the Department of Labor and Industry last year than in any since 1917, reports compiled today showed the increase over 1922 was 4,186 and the total for the year 200,435.

COKE OUTPUT FOR '23 AWAY HEAD OF '22

Cannelville, Pa., Jan. 3. (INS).—The Cannelville coke region in 1923 produced 13,114,840 tons of coke having an aggregate value of $77,374,606 as compared with 5,875,000 tons in 1922 when the value was $40,576,250, according to statistics made public here today. The 1923 output was the largest since 1918.

Pittsburgh Fears Rains Will Cause Flood And Sends Out Warnings

Pittsburgh, Jan. 3. (INS).—Flood warnings for all points along the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio Rivers were issued by the local weather bureau at 10:25 this morning when the rivers, receiving the heavy rains at all points along the Pennsylvania watershed, began rising slowly. By 1 o'clock this afternoon, weather bureau officials said, the full effect of yesterday's heavy rains will begin to be felt and the rivers from then on will rise rapidly. From early reports, it was said, it is impossible to say when the crest will be reached.

HALF MILLION - DOLLAR UNIT OF BIG PLANT NOW IN RUINS

Pekin, Ill., Jan. 3. (INS).—Seven bodies were taken from the ruins of the Corn Products Company's starch plant here just before noon today. An eighth man, hurt when a dust explosion destroyed the unit of the $8,000,000 refinery, died in a Pekin hospital. Twenty seven others were shown by a company check up to be missing.

One of the bodies was unidentified. The others were said to be those of: George Harms, Lee Harding, Louis Schmidt, William Ruml, John Hooker, William Vogelsang.

The man who died in a hospital was James Fulton. Nearly fifty injured were in Pekin hospitals and homes.

Efforts to establish the casualties with indisputable accuracy were frustrated by company officials, who placed armed sentinels about the plant and refused admission to all but rescue workers.

Women and other relatives of the dead and missing were herded outside, where they frantically tried to learn the fate of their kin.

Officials of the corporation said that their information showed 34 injured to be under treatment, either in hospitals or homes.

Rescue workers had great difficulty in pushing their search through the water drenched ruins in weather which closely approached the zero mark.

About 120 men were believed to be in the building when the explosion came. Fire followed the blast and spread to the wet starch room and a warehouse, destroying them and bringing property loss above the half million mark.

The Corn Products Company's eight million dollar plant is located a mile and a half south west of the business district of the town. The dry starch building occupied approximately half a city block.

Employees said the blaze followed so closely after the explosion that the entire structure was a mass of flames almost instantly and escape would have been an impossibility for some of the men on the upper floors of the four story structure.

Pekin firemen were called, but found the blaze uncontrollable. Calls for aid were sent to Peoria immediately and fire trucks responded with the ambulances bearing physicians to the work of rescue. When Peoria firemen arrived the structure was practically in ruins. They confined their efforts to saving other buildings threatened by the blaze.

Among the seriously injured by the blast, it is feared that many will die. Some lost arms and legs in the blast and others were severely burned.

The fate of nine men loading starch into four freight cars when the blast came still, was in doubt this afternoon. The force of the explosion telescoped the cars and twisted them into a mass of wreckage beneath which it was impossible to delve in search of the men. Rescuers told of hearing moans coming from there and assumed the men were buried. The moans ceased this morning.

The starch room is located in a four story building and all of the injured were in that structure, which was almost completely destroyed by the blast. Fire following the explosion completed the work of devastation.

The plant, valued at several million dollars and covering a territory of a mile square, works 24 hours a day.

PARIS THREATENED WITH BAD FLOOD BY SEINE'S OVERFLOW

By FREDERICK K. ABBOT
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Paris, Jan. 3.—With railroad stations closed, public buildings isolated and suburbs flooded, the River Seine continued to rise today threatening Paris with the worst flood in history.

The river at noon had reached the stage of 21 feet and 10 inches, the highest in history except during the disastrous flood in 1910.

The water has cut off the supply of electricity in the Invalides district.

Clerks in the ministry of finance worked feverishly transferring documents and files from the basement to the second floor.

The great Foreign Office building is surrounded by water.

Official flood stage reading and weather forecasts are being broadcast by the Eiffel tower wireless station.

Many people are homeless in the suburbs and tremendous property damage has been done. The river has risen so slowly that all had a chance to get to high ground and there have been no casualties.

Suburbs bordering the Seine resemble a scene from Venice. Many families that refused to abandon their homes moved into the second floor. Mail and foodstuffs are delivered from boats.

The Orleans railway station also has been closed.

Train schedules have been abandoned.

Rains along the upper Seine continue, making it impossible to say when the crest of the flood will be reached.

NEW YORK LAWYER TO HANDLE THAW'S CASE FOR FREEDOM

New York, Jan. 3. (INS).—Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, will come to New York, and here face all charges pending against him, providing he wins his freedom from the Kirkbride Insane Asylum, Philadelphia, his attorney, Bartholomew B. Coyne, announced today.

That he is charged with luring Frederick Cump, former 19-year-old Kansas City, Mo. boy to New York, and whipping him with a leather thong. The alleged assault occurred Christmas night, 1916.

Coyne was to visit Thaw at the Philadelphia asylum this afternoon. Final plans for bringing Thaw's case before a jury seeking to prove him now sane, but admitting his insanity in the past, will be discussed. Papers in the appeal will be filed in the Pennsylvania courts Jan. 14, Coyne said.

Not Seeking Freedom
For Thaw, Says Gordon
Philadelphia, Jan. 3. (INS).—Former Judge Gordon, counsel for Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, of Pittsburgh, today repeated denials that efforts were being made by the Thaw family to secure release of Harry Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, from the Pennsylvania Hospital for mental and nervous diseases. A story to this effect was published yesterday in New York.

Misses Marian and Grace Underwood returned to Pittsburgh after a pleasant vacation at their home on Tenth street.

JOHNSON, FACING AN ALMOST SOLID WALL OF COOLIDGE MEN, BEGINS FIGHT IN OHIO

Cleveland, O., Jan. 3.—Facing an apparently solid phalanx of organization sentiment for the renomination of President Coolidge at the Republican convention next June, Senator Hiram Johnson, actively began his fight for Ohio's delegates today.

In a speech which he will make at Masonic auditorium tonight, the fiery Californian is expected to define clearly the issues upon which he will seek the nomination, having his eyes not only upon Ohio, but on the great middle western states of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Iowa, as well as considering the situation in Pennsylvania where Gov. Pinchot, an old time "Progressive" colleague at Armstrong and other points in 1912, may enter the lists.

Accompanied by his national manager, Frank H. Hitchcock, Senator Johnson arrived in Cleveland at 8:30 this morning and went immediately to the Hotel Cleveland, where quarters had been reserved for him. The day was to be spent in conference with Johnson supporters from all parts of the midwest, and several important announcements were expected to be made.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor a talent show at the Hotel Cleveland, where they wish all amateur players to meet at the Globe theatre on Friday evening for the purpose of formulating plans.

Bucknell Glee Club To Give Entertainment Here Saturday Night

The Bucknell Glee Club is scheduled to give a concert in the High School auditorium on Jan. 5. This means that the people of Clearfield will receive a very excellent musical treat.

The annual Christmas trip of the Bucknell Glee Club has become an established affair throughout the entire state of Pennsylvania. The concerts are a source of keen enjoyment to thousands of enthusiasts who attend them annually.

Under the direction of Prof. Ralph Hartz who studied with the head master of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Naples, Italy and former manager and assistant director of the Bucknell Club, the club has this year built up a reputation for itself in musical circles. Twenty-eight men will comprise the glee club and they will give a varied program that is sure to please.

There is a spontaneity and an enthusiasm about a college glee club which sets it apart from any other entertainment. Any man or woman who has ever been to college or who has sent a son or daughter to college or has been connected with a university cannot resist the light hearted atmosphere of a college musical club.

HUGH GAULIN AND 'SQUIRE CURLEY RETAIN PLACES WHICH THEY HAVE ACCEPTABLY FILLED FOR LONG TIME

PORT MATILDA HAS DREAMS OF BEING ON BIG HIGHWAY

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 3. (INS).—A movement to secure the construction of a modern highway between Bellefonte and Tyrone, to connect by an almost straight route the famous Lakes-to-the-Sea Highway and the Susquehanna and Horse Shoe Trails, has been launched by the Community Welfare Association of Port Matilda.

At a special meeting last night the association named a committee to interview the State Highway Department officials and the Center county commissioners concerning the proposed highway and report at another meeting called for January 8.

The proposed highway, it is said, would be about 15 miles shorter than the present route through State College and would traverse a section of beautiful mountain scenery. It is hoped construction may be started by spring.

Carl A. Anderson Gets Stock Job; Bill Leavy Makes Way For Chase Torrence on Juvenile

JOHN SMITH LANDS

Judge-elect A. R. Chase, Esq., will assume the duties of President Judge of the courts of Clearfield county on Monday, January 7th, and, as was to be expected, some changes will be made in the officials about the Court House, who hold their positions by reason of the Judge's favor.

Judge Chase has already selected his official family and every instance in which he is congratulated upon the choice he has made. For Court Reporter, Hugh B. Gaulin has been re-elected. Mr. Gaulin stands alone in his class, being very justly styled the best court reporter in Clearfield County, bar none, and Judge Chase's reappointing of him to this important office will meet with universal approval. The salary of court reporter is $2,500.

Court Crier and Librarian W. L. Curley, who served acceptably in those positions during the past ten years, has also been named to these positions by Judge Chase. Mr. Curley's abilities and efficiency entitled him to the place and his reappointment is a source of genuine satisfaction to all the members of the Bar as well as all who have had business with the court. The combined salaries for the two places total $1,340, or $1,000 per year as court crier and $240 as librarian or keeper of the law library.

For Deserion Court Probation Officer, Carl A. Anderson, of Clearfield, is named to succeed John A. Stock, who held the position during Judge Bell's incumbency. Mr. Anderson should prove to be a capable, competent officer. He is a native of Cooper township, where he resided for many years before coming to Clearfield about three years ago to engage in the wholesale paper business. He is a man of discretion and judgment and eminently fitted for the position to which he has been named. The salary is $2,000 per year and expenses.

For Juvenile Probation Officer Judge Chase has named Charles L. Torrence, of Clearfield, to succeed W. J. Leavy. Mr. Torrence is a Clearfield business man of many years' residence and is well qualified for the position, which requires a man of experience in handling young people. The job pays $1,350 and expenses.

Measures Stock and Leavy will retain their offices until February 1st, given Judge Chase has made several orders governing the business of the several courts he will preside over and also named the following committees to serve for two years:

Lax Examining Committee: John C. Arnold, Edward T. Kelly, Lloyd E. McCall, Cortes Bell, Clarence Kistner.

A FINE IDEA

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(N. S. Sports Editor.)

New York, Jan. 3.—In spite of the fact that they have buried the idea, it has become evident that Senator James J. Walker, father of the New York boxing law, and Tex Rickard, world's foremost promoter of boxing, are not reconciled to the fact that they are residents of one and the same state. Apparently they have buried the hatchet in each other's heads.

A bill has just been introduced in the legislature that would place the maximum admission for ordinary fights at $5 and for championship bouts at $7. The measure was aimed directly at Rickard and it is significant that its sponsor was Senator William H. Kieburn, who happens to be Walker's political faith.

C. H. S. HOLDS CITY OF LANCASTER TO VERY DECENT SCORE

Extracts from the Lancaster News Journal go to show that the score doesn't indicate really the trend of the game. "From the start of the contest the visitors demonstrated that they were a classy outfit thru and thru, but they were no match for the play of the Lancaster squad. There is no doubt that the better team won for the score was too decisive to permit any indecision on that score. The coal region combination were remarkably fast and displayed a beautiful passing game but it was on the defense they displayed their best work.

Although showing a snappy brand of cage work, Clearfield High was forced to taste defeat when they dropped a 31-30 contest to Lancaster High New Year's Eve at Lancaster. The city boys displayed an canny shooting ability, caging the ball from all angles, many of the shots being made over the local defense which the evening seldom piece. Clearfield High and the "coal miners" gave the Lancaster cagers a real problem to solve in their wonderful defense well etched in the "Big Bertha" shots put C. H. S. to rout in the second half.

The veteran Lancaster quintet, which last year made such a good record, worked with steady precision but could not keep down the local green team as low as they wanted. "Chick" Yohn at forward appeared in finest form and caged 8 field pointers, while his two running mates, Troop and DeHaven, got 7 between them. Sylvius at center found "Nick" Brown an equal and could get only four counters. Our own, altho losing, gave the big town boys some real thrills with their work, yet they could not best a two-year combination when only a green five themselves. "Nick" Brown, the locals' lanky center, with four field counters and showing some flashy defense work, was a thorn to the enemy, while Bob Wilson and Pete Barnie, who could not cut the ball thru the ring for more than four between them, were also strong on the defense. Capt. "Boss" Mitchell and Ken Barnie supported the former strongly and each managed to register field scores. Ray Maurer at forward for the locals proved his ability by his all around work and also by caging one counter, filling out a team with every member scoring against the veteran Lancaster High five.

Clearfield was considerably handicapped by absence of their coach, "Bob" Reed, who was unable to accompany the team because of illness. He has greatly improved and will report for a light practice this evening in preparation for the DuBois game.

The local basketball league season will be opened tomorrow evening, when they are scheduled against DuBois High on the High School gym. Coach Treadwells vacation has been shortened considerably to have him administer some floor principles to his proteges who have all resolved not to lose to Clearfield in '24, yet "Nick" Brown, varsity center who went strong in the DuBois defeat here last year intends showing the visitors a few pointers in the basketball "reader."

Hunt For Meadville Girl; Is Thought To Be White Slaver's Victim

Greenville, Pa., Jan. 3 (INS.)—Evidence tending to show the girl may have been a victim of the white slave ring believed responsible for the disappearance of more than a score of Western Pennsylvania girls, today prompted the inauguration of a state-wide search for Miss Margaret Cozy, 19, of Meadville, Pa., who has been missing from her rooming house here since December 9. The largest tip search followed a police statement that a young man frequently seen in her company also had disappeared. The girl, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cozy of Meadville, was employed by Ralph Stevenson here. She lived with Mrs. Mary Starr, here.

THIS WOMAN RELIEVED FROM SUFFERING

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Remarkable Story

Dover, Del.—"I wish every woman could take your wonderful medicine as it would take your wonderful medicine as it took me. I had cramps and faint spells and very bad pains. One day I was over to my neighbor's house and she told me I ought to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I went to the store on my way home and got a bottle, and took the first dose before supper. I have been taking it ever since, and you can hardly believe how different I feel. I had just wanted to lie in bed at the time, and when I started to brush my teeth I could give out in about ten minutes. So you know how badly I felt. I used to go to bed at eight and get up at seven. Still tired. Now I can work all day and stay up until eleven, and feel as right all the time. My housework is all I do in summer, but in winter I work in a factory. I have told a good many of my friends, and I have had three come to me and tell me they wouldn't do without the Vegetable Compound."

LOCAL CORPORATION CHANGES NAME

The name of the Clearfield Sewer Pipe Company disappeared from Clearfield's list of business corporations January 1st, when the name was officially changed to "The Robinson Clay Product Company of Pennsylvania."

This plant was purchased in the Spring of 1920 by the Robinson Clay Product Company's general offices are at Akron, Ohio, and is factory No. 12 of a chain of plants owned by them.

The Clearfield plant has been operated as a Pennsylvania corporation and will so continue, without change in ownership or management. The change in name is purely technical.

DIED AS RESULT OF DRINKING PARTY

Osceola Mills, Jan. 3.—Patrick Heffernan, a miner, was found dead yesterday in a shanty at Polly's Knob, a resort near this town. Heffernan had been drinking quite heavily and death is attributed to bad liquor and acute alcoholism.

Two other men in the shanty at the time did not know that Heffernan was dead until informed of the fact by the person who called and found him. He was about 50 years of age and is survived by one brother.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

According to the records of Deputy State Game Protector W. J. Davis, of Clearfield, there were 591 illegal buck deer killed in Clearfield during the year ending of 1923, which closed December 1st. The same records show a total of 50 illegal bucks and does killed and reported to or found by the game protectors.

This is the greatest number of illegal deer ever killed in any one season in this county and simply goes to show that some hunters are entirely too careless. There might be some reason for excusing the hungry "meat hunter" who downs a spike buck and finds the spikes too short, but there is no excuse in any but rare cases for the fellow who shoots a doe. That fellow is either reckless or careless or both and should be kept out of the woods. Double the fine and take the hunting license of the doe killer from him and there will be fewer does all.

During the hunting season of 1922 there were 628 bucks killed in Clearfield county or 37 more than 1923's kill.

Perhaps a King the State Game Commission to get behind a law at the next session of the Pennsylvania Legislature making it illegal to hunt birds with dogs in the game covers of the state are being circulated in several sections of the county at present, the more so designed to preserve the native grouse or native pheasant for a few more years.

The extent to which labor unions have gone into banking is indicated by the fact that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Co-operative Trust Company opened in New York City with $100,000 capital and $250,000 in surplus. It is the ninth financial institution in action by that old, practical and well-conducted organization. The variety of service it offers, from buying theatre tickets to serving as executor of estates, indicates the quality of labor leaders in taking advantage of the broad opportunities of a wise offered to trust companies under the law.

handling large one. It has $102,000, 000 in outstanding insurance and pays $8,000,000 a year upon that account, a sum which tends constantly to increase.

Every year beginning with 1923 will consist of thirteen months instead of twelve, if astronomers have their way at the League of Nations committee meeting on calendar revision next year. The plan for inserting an extra month in the proposed world-wide calendar was evolved at the meeting was originated by M. B. Cotsworth, of Vancouver, B. C.

History is the antidote for pessimism. In 1588, the population of England was under five million. In 1653, there wasn't a physician in the whole of Sweden. In 1662, Britons were condemned without jury trial and forced to swallow boiling lead, while, across the Channel, royal decree furnished a husky criminal annually to the physicians of Montpellier for vivisection. In 1698, two hundred thousand Scots begged from door to door and subsisted upon the proceeds of robbery and murder, an one out of every fourteen inhabitants died of smallpox.

claim that he shot Dines in self defense and denied emphatically any infatuation for the actress. However, while discussing his relations with Miss Normand, Greer grew sentimental and declared: "She is the sweetest little woman in the world when she is sober, but disgusting when she is otherwise, and I hated to see her going that way." He also admitted proudly that Miss Normand had given him a pair of platinum cuff links for Christmas and declared that was a good little "boss."

Greer declared that Mrs. Edith Burns, companion of Miss Normand, told him that Miss Normand had called from Dines' apartment and said for him to come after her. Mrs. Burns, he said, told him that while she was talking with Miss Normand, Dines had broken in on the wire and said that Miss Normand was not coming home.

"I knew that Dines was bigger than myself and before leaving I went to Miss Normand's room and got her Reuben, as is familiar with volve, Greer said. "I was going to bring her home no matter what Dines said about it.

"When I stepped into the room, I told Miss Normand I had come for her and to get ready. She said something I didn't catch and Dines came toward me threateningly. He tried to push me back and when he failed, reached back of him for a bottle. I thought he was going to hit me with it and fired at him.

"I think a lot of Miss Normand but I'm not in love with her. She was to have gone to the hospital today for an appendicitis operation and I knew she was sick and did not think it right for her to be over there drinking."

"When some one suggests a party, Miss Normand, the poor little kid, doesn't know when to say no. One of her New Year's resolutions was no more wild parties and the first thing she does is go over to Dines' and start drinking."

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

LESS WHEAT SOWN

American farmers have sown about 6,000 acres less in winter wheat than usual. That is expected to result in a production loss of about 100,000,000 bushels. The spring wheat acreage also will probably be curtailed.

This is a natural reaction to the slack demand for the crops of the last two or three years, with their low prices. Farmers collectively and individually are disinclined to continue raising any crop on the same scale when recent experience has shown that it does not pay, and prefer to substitute better-paying crops or even let the land lie idle.

Nevertheless it is unfortunate for the world, and possibly unfortunate for the farmers themselves. Perfectly obvious solutions to a big problem are often short-sighted. Nowhere is long-range vision more necessary than in agriculture. Such vision in this case would suggest not the concentration of effort on crop-production but on the stimulation of the foreign market to absorb a normal crop.

Millions of people abroad are starving for bread. An organized effort to stabilize the economic life of Europe might revive a market which would take, at good prices, all the wheat this country could produce, along with great quantities of manufactured products. American participation in the German reparation inquiry is a good beginning in that direction.

KEEP THEM HOME FROM SCHOOL

One of the ways in which Wisconsin expresses its interest in the health of its children is by insisting that parents keep home from school "the child with a cold, the child with a rash, the child with a fever, the child with a cough, the child with a sore throat, the child with a swelling on its face, the child that fails to eat breakfast because of illness, the child that is nauseated, dizzy, or faint, the child with weeping eyes, the child with any marked change in appearance or conduct, the child with red eyes, the child from a quarantined home".

Parents with a combined respect for regularity of school attendance and a feeling that children should not be coddled in their petty ailments may think that a foolish list. It is far from foolish.

A good many serious diseases—masquerading in the past as "children's diseases" and of little importance—show one or more of the above symptoms in their early stages. And the early stages are usually the infectious stages. Experience has proved often that the sending to school of children who have appeared to have only a trifling indisposition has resulted in a serious epidemic which has taken a heavy toll of health, and even of life, in the community. Sending one child to school when he should have been isolated at home has sometimes caused the complete closing of the schools, because of the epidemic it has started.

JOBS FOR DOBBIN

In spite of widespread interest in the victories and defeats of Spark Plug, that horse hero of the comic section, there has been a growing popular belief that the horse was on its last legs, so to speak, and would within a century or so be found

A WOMAN'S CAPITAL

Just as you turn to your wife to organize your home, so your wife turns to you to conserve capital and make it productive. Most women, during their husband's or father's lifetime, give little thought to the management of capital. Then suddenly they find themselves with capital in their hands. Consider how much better it would be if you would establish a trust by your will, administered by a Trustee. And how admirably such a Trust would work if this old experienced institution was named as Trustee and the life-long training of its officers were used to invest and manage your capital.

EXHIBITS FOR FARM PRODUCTS SHOW SENT FREE BY BUREAU

The Farm Bureau will collect and send free of charge all exhibits of corn, potatoes, grain, butter, eggs, etc., that the farmers of the County may wish to send to the State Farm Products Show, to be held in Harrisburg, January 22nd to 25th.

The Farm Bureau has Premium Books on hand in the Office for distribution for any one desiring the same. These books will be mailed or given out upon request.

All exhibits that are sent to the Farm Bureau Office for shipment should be packed securely, with entry blank or card showing the name and address and County of the exhibitor, and tell in which class each exhibit entered.

In the case of corn, potatoes and fruit, each ear of corn or apple, etc., should be wrapped separately so as to protect it from bruise or shelling. In the case of eggs, special containers will be furnished upon request, by writing to L. W. Steelman, State College. Containers for milk products can be obtained from L. W. Morley, State College.

All exhibits sent to the Farm Bureau Office for shipment should reach Clearfield not later than Friday, January 18th.

Clearfield County should be well represented at the State Show this year. Our County Fair proves that this County has as good products as any, and if a little effort were taken to look over the stock on hand, a very desirable exhibit could be obtained. Let us all work together and put Clearfield County on the map at Harrisburg this year.

WOMAN OF 97 ILL

Mrs. Nancy Parks is seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John B. Davis on Linden street, where she has made her home for the past twenty years. Mrs. Parks is in her 97th year. She has been bedfast for a week.

There now are several countries in Europe where a man can be a millionaire and a pauper at one and the same time.

Another trouble about a ninety-nine year lease is that a fellow hardly ever lives long enough to renew one of them.

only in museums, along with the dinosaur and other extinct creatures. Now, however, no less authorities than the secretary of the American horse association and a professor of paleontology at a large university come forward to aver that the horse will live and thrive and be useful as long as the human race endures.

The practical economy of the horse remains unchallenged, they say, for many purposes. Tractors, motor cars and other modern machinery may have their place in the general scheme of things. But they will never, as was thought for a time, displace the horse completely.

It is true that there are more horses than the country uses now, but there are not enough horses for certain specific jobs. So it becomes chiefly a matter of adjustment and efficiency, eliminating the unfit and keeping the right kind of horses to meet the demand.

Mailing Lists are People

Don't let anybody in your place forget that those printed names or stencils stand for real, human people.

Your catalog or your booklet or your house organ is something somebody gets from you.

Each person is conscious of opening a container, taking out a piece of printing, and looking at it.

These people don't see anything to the printing you send them but what is there. If it's good printing, they see good printing. If it's poor printing, they see poor printing.

If you talked with a good printer and later gave the job to a poor printer, they see the work of a poor printer. If you considered using a good paper, but decided finally on a cheap paper, they see only the cheap paper.

If you started out to do a fine job, but item by item let mediocrity creep in, it's a mediocre job they see. What your mailing list thinks about your business is what your business is.

Send out Better Printing and each person on your mailing list will have a better conception of you and the things you sell.

Worship Advice.
A famous bishop had the trick of pronouncing "to" like "tu" thus: "I am full of hot coffee," according to Pett Ridge, who has written "A Story Teller Forty Years in London." Once he was giving advice to a working girls' club, and impressed on the members the necessity for arranging full occupation of their spare time. "Above all girls," he said earnestly, "try to be always available, to cultivate a hobby."—From the Argonaut.

Amalgam
Amalgam is a fairly secretion formed in some species of fishes. It is taken from the fishes directly, but more often it is found floating in the water, especially in the waters of the tropics. It is also found cast up on beaches in heaps which sometimes exceed 200 pounds in weight. On exposure to the air it develops a sweet agreeable odor. Amalgams has a high commercial value as a material used in the manufacture of perfumes, and the price is increased due to the rarity of the sperm whale and the growing demand for the material.

Tom Sims SAYS---

The best way for a girl to propose to a man is to sit on his knee until he proposes.

Ask your parents to object to your fellow during Leap Year. Then he will marry you for spite.

Buy a comfortable sofa. A comfortable sofa goes a long way toward a successful Leap Year.

Good lights have ruined many a Leap Year prospect. Love is blind so make it in the dark.

Tell him you can't shoot a pistol. A man may be brave and still refuse to marry a good pistol shot.

Tell him others want to marry you. Never let on he is your last chance. Men don't like that.

If a man lets a man brag about his past long enough he will want her to take care of his future.

Don't paint too heavily during Leap Year. You can't propose to a man you have given painter's colic.

Look while kissing during Leap Year. No man wants to marry a girl who sticks her nose in his eye.

Get your mother to cook him a meal. Swear you-cooked it. A full man will marry almost anybody.

If your prospective Leap Year husband chews gum this is nice. He can chew the rag with you later.

Buy a new dress. Tell him you made it. Claim your clothes cost a dollar a month. You can marry him.

JEFFERSON COUNTY TAKES LEAD HAVING ALL HERDS TESTED

25 Government Men To Begin Big Job Jan. 7th
and Will Not Stop Until
Every T. B. Is Found.

IS GETTING ON MAP

Our neighbor County, Jefferson, on the West, has taken a very important step, and there by placed itself very much on the livestock map, by cleaning up the entire County of tuberculosis from the beef and dairy herds of the County.

The actual drive will take place on the 7th of this month at which time twenty-five or thirty State and Federal Veterinarians will work over the entire County and test every herd for tuberculosis. Over ninety-five per cent of the herds have already been signed up, and an attempt to sign up the other five per cent will be made during the drive.

Jefferson County will then stand in the preferred class with Mercer and Crawford as being the only Counties in the State that will be entirely free from tuberculosis.

It is a step forward in the right direction, and a step that will mean thousands of dollars of increased value to the dairy and beef cattle in Jefferson County. The monetary value will be insignificant compared to the health of the people that will result from the test. It is a proven fact that bovine tuberculosis is transmissible to the human, and a great deal of the tuberculosis in the human family can be traced back to the source, especially through the early stages of childhood. Poultry and hogs are also susceptible to the disease through drinking contaminated milk. This is sufficient reason for any County to make a special effort to eradicate the disease from the herds of the County.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY WOULD FOLLOW THE JEFFERSON TRACK

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the County Farm Bureau, held last week, the members went on record as favoring a project to clean up the entire County of tuberculosis. This means that it will be necessary to have at least ninety per cent of the herd owners in the county sign an agreement to have their herds tested. This should not be difficult if the herd owners fully appreciated the advantage they will have in having the work done. In the first place there is absolutely no cost to the herd owner, and under the plan contemplated every animal that reacts will be paid for by the State and Federal Governments up to approximately ninety per cent of the value of the animal.

The entire proposition is being taken up with State and Federal authorities, as well as with the community leaders in the County, and if present plans work out, an active campaign will be started some time in February. The actual testing could not be done before June. It behooves every dairyman, however, to watch for future developments, and if present plans work out so that the project can be undertaken, to give every assistance possible in signing up and explaining the proposition and what it means to the one who does not understand it.

Watch for special announcements on the subject in the next monthly edition of the Progress, as well as daily and County papers.

COUNTY AGENT OUT OF COUNTY

TWO WEEKS THIS MONTH

The County Farm Agents will be out of the County from January 11th to January 26th, attending conference and educational meetings. From the 11th to the 18th, at Pennsylvania State College attending the Annual County Agent Conference, at which time the Extension men from all the Counties, together with the Specialists, take up the new problems and to lectures from men in other institutions, thereby gaining new knowledge and methods to bring back to the people of the County.

Good Sires Are Now Available And Right In This Community

In a recent survey, made by the County Agent, in several communities, it was found that practically two-thirds of the dairy herds were without the service of a good pure bred sire. Such a condition is hard to believe, but nevertheless it is true and should be remedied.

Dairy authorities are agreed that the sire at the head of the herd is more than half the herd and that if the production of the offspring is to be increased from generation to generation it will be necessary to head the herd with a better sire than the best of the cows in the herd. With scrub cows and pure bred sires results have proven that it is possible, in one generation of the herd, to increase the milk eight to ten percent and the fat thirty-three per cent and the production of the scrub dams, during the next generation will be a slightly better sire, the milk can be increased one hundred and eighty per cent, and the fat one hundred and twenty-eight per cent with the corresponding results that as the production of a cow is doubled the profits will increase three times, and as the production is tripled, profits will increase six times, and so on. With these facts before us it seems hard to believe that any dairyman who desires to stay in the business of producing milk or butter should not have a pure bred sire to head the herd. If it were a question of mortgaging the farm to buy a sire of the right type it might be reasonable enough to hesitate, but since any dairyman can obtain a pure bred sire from a good dam for one hundred to two hundred dollars apiece, depending upon the type, individuality and production of dam, there seems no good reason why the scrub bull should exist any longer.

Dozens of good pure bred bulls are for sale by dairymen of Clearfield County. Many of them are as good as could be obtained by sending off and paying twice the money that would take to buy any of these. The Farm Bureau has a list of breeders who are keeping a record of their cows for milk and butter fat and can furnish any dairyman with information where they can go and see the animals for sale and find out what is back of them. Clearfield County, at the present time, has several of the best bulls in the State and some of the good cows as well.

Let us resolve to dispose of the scrub bull, not to a neighbor, but to the butcher, the only place a scrub bull deserves. Then with the scrub out of the way, purchase a pure bred, either as a calf or one old enough for service, as the individual may desire.

The Farm Bureau will be glad to assist any one in getting better sires or females in the herd.

Inclusive, the County Agent will attend the Farm Products Show at Harrisburg.

The Office Day in DuBois, started November 1st, will be discontinued after this coming Friday, until the first Friday in February, the County Agent being absent on the 11th, 18th and 25th. The Office of the Farm Bureau in Clearfield will be open as usual every day, in charge of the Secretary.

PURE BRED AYRSHIRES BROT INTO THE COUNTY

John McKeage, Mahaffey, recently purchased a small herd of exceptionally fine Ayrshire cattle from one of the best herds in the country, and expects to build up from this foundation one of the best herds of Ayrshires in the State. They can be seen at his farm near Mahaffey at any time.

HOG FACTS

By H. H. HAYNER and
E. M. CHRISTEN
Pennsylvania State College.

A PRICE STUDY.

When the price of live hogs started to ease off this fall, the predominant idea among all pork producers throughout the swine raising section of the middle west seemed to be to get everything that resembled a fat hog onto the market. And so the receipts of hogs at the principal livestock centers have been soaring and with this has come a marked reaction in price. That there would have been some downward trend even though hogs came on in orderly fashion must be admitted, but it is also a fact that the heavy runs had a very depressing effect upon the price. A good many of our Pennsylvania pork producers were caught in the pincers with a seven and eight cent a pound live weight price staring them in the face. But the prevailing manner in which hogs are marketed in this state helped very materially in the total receipts for hogs sold. Probably sixty-five per cent of the hogs produced in Pennsylvania are home butchered and sold as dressed pork. Most of the men who had been disposing of their hogs in this way, found no trouble in realizing twelve and one-half to fifteen cents a pound dressed weight basis. This corresponded to a nine to eleven and one-half cent live weight market and the pinch didn't hurt at all. Under Pennsylvania conditions it seems quite evident that where opportunity exists to dispose of dressed pork through the retail trade it will be of distinct financial gain to take advantage of such an outlet, and particularly will this be true where heavy runs of hogs are bearing down on the live weight price.

1923 International Live Stock Exposition.

Each year the live stock world looks to the International at Chicago for the best efforts of the animal producer. While essentially a fat show a classification for breeding classes is also provided. There is breed, inter-breed, single, pen, carload, and carcass competition. Such a classification must necessarily be based along educational lines. Here then the observer can follow the feeder animal through the fat classes and even the carcass or the hook. Each breed is judged separately in the fat classes and then the best in each breed is brought together for a grand championship. This year the grand championship barrow was a Chester White, weighing five hundred and ten pounds, shown by the Iowa State College. This barrow sold for thirty-seven cents a pound, said to be a record price for a hog on foot. The reserve grand champion was a Berkshire shown in the three hundred and fifty to four hundred and fifty pound class by the University of Minnesota. The Durpc Jerseys had a real contender for these honors in their heavy barrow.

In the show of pens of three the Berkshire men containing the reserve grand champion single barrow was grand champion. They were shown by the University of Minnesota. The reserve grand champion pen were Poland Chinas, shown in the four hundred and fifty to five hundred and fifty pound class also by the University of Minnesota. The carload display brought out the best and best shown in recent years. There were thirty-two carloads shown, and the Hampshires shown by J. M. Ballard, Marion, Indiana, were grand champions. They weighed an average of three hundred and ten pounds. The Durocs furnished the strongest competition for the winning load. Eight loads of Hampshires sold for an average of nine dollars and forty cents per cwt.; ten loads of Durocs sold for an average of eight dollars and ninety-seven cents per cwt.; nine dollars and ten cents was the average price received per cwt. for the five carloads of Chester Whites; Poland Chinas exhibited five carloads, selling them at an average of eight dollars and fifty cents per cwt.; Berkshire had three loads, selling at an average of nine dollars and eighty-three cents per cwt., and the remaining load were Tamworths which sold at seven dollars and seventy-five cents, though they placed second in the light weight class.

At this point, it is well to point out two things. First, that because of a temporary condition of the market at this time, heavy hogs are selling at a premium. This placed a handicap on the lighter hogs that was difficult to overcome. Usually the barrow weighing around two hundred pounds is preferred but just now a three hundred pound fat hog suits the market better. This condition probably will not long prevail. Secondly, it is that the carload of Berkshire barrows, furnished by the Pennsylvania State College, placed second in the largest class of the carload show. They averaged two hundred and nine pounds and sold for ten dollars and twenty-five cents per hundred weight, which was fifty cents higher than the load which placed over them in the two hundred and fifty pound class. The Breeders' Gazette says of this load: "The Pennsylvania load of Berkshires averaged two hundred and nine pounds and had merit all through with respect to breed, type and finish."

The carcass contest which is inter-breed competition, was won by Berkshires, both the grand champion and reserve grand champion carcasses being of that breed. In classes Chester White won two first and one third, Poland Chinas two second and one third, Berkshires two firsts, two seconds and two thirds.

Thus we can see that when we take the best each breed can produce and show them against each other, no breed has it all. For example, the Chester White was best single barrow, the Berkshire best pen and best carcass, the Hampshire best carload, the Durocs were a close second in carloads, a strong contender for single barrow honors, and the Poland were reserve champion pen, furnishing keen competition in carcass and carload classes. The job of the breeder is to study his surroundings, pick his breed and endeavor to produce the best possible. It is by this method that his product will compare favorably with his neighbors.

Alfalfa Hay Induces Exercise.

One of the essentials for the production of strong litters is exercise. Without exercise, the brood sows will produce pigs of lowered vitality. The question is—how to get this required activity without actually forcing it by driving the individuals.

Some times the sleeping quarters can be so located that the brood sows must walk some distance for their water and to another location for their regular food. Such arrangements are ideal, but far more often the hog house is the feeding place because of its convenience. Then a plan must be worked out which enables the sows to travel and work to a certain extent without a maximum of inconvenience to the feeder.

IMPROVEMENTS ON DAIRY FARMS SHOW PROGRESS IS MADE

Many Farmers Rebuild
Barns; Some Making
New Ones, Others Improve Interiors.

"PLAN" IMPORTANT

That Clearfield County is making real progress in dairying is shown by the number of farmers who are either rebuilding their old barns or erecting new ones for their dairy herds. A well designed, attractive dairy barn has an appreciable advertising value, especially when the owner derives a portion of his income from the sale of surplus animals. The cost of a new barn, however, should not go beyond the point where the interest on the investment, plus depreciation, will become an excessive load.

The long winter evening is good time to plan the new barn or consider the remodeling of the old barn. Some factors to be considered in building a dairy barn are: location relative to other buildings, size and stage of your dairy business, fire risk, materials available for construction and local regulations covering the production, handling and disposal of milk. Proper ventilation, plenty of light, and convenience for the herd are important points to be considered.

Plans for dairy barns are available at the office of the County Agent. Men contemplating building are invited to drop in and discuss their plans.

Profitable Crops Can Be Found Only By The Keeping Of Records

What crop grown by Clearfield County farmers brings the greatest money return per hour of labor? Accurate records—the one means of finding it out.

Eighty-two farmers in Lancaster County kept books in 1922 and the results were summarized by the extension farm management department of State College. Wheat returned the smallest income per hour of labor of the six principal crops. It yielded one and three-tenths cents an hour for the average of the eighty-two farms. Tobacco gave the greatest return, paying out sixty-four cents an hour on the labor. Alfalfa ranked second with 39.1 cents an hour, followed by corn with 36.4 cents, potatoes with 36.2 cents and hay with 34.3 cents.

Tobacco consumed the greatest time per acre, taking an average of 242 hours of the farmer's time. The least time was spent on the hay crop with an average of 12.2 hours per acre. The average wage per hour for the six crops was 35.2 cents.

DAIRY PROGRAM AT HARRISBURG SHOW TO BE OF THE BEST

Wednesday and Thursday, January 23 and 24 will be red letter days for dairymen at the Farm Products Show at Harrisburg. Dairymen of Clearfield County attending the show will have an opportunity of sitting in on a varied program of talks by men prominent in the dairy industry.

The dairy program opens Wednesday morning at 9:30 with a talk on the "Economic hay in a rack, built the show an ordinary manger but with slatted sides, a means is provided for a thrifter condition of the breeding herd. Alfalfa or first cutting clover is ideal as a roughage for sows. The smaller stem, finer hay is the best. The brood sows will work at this hay eating the leaves and part of the stem. It keeps them busy and contented and at the same time benefits their bodies. Only an occasional forkful of hay will be necessary, therefore, the cost is small while the indirect results are large. No man can afford to winter his brood sows without exercise and for the mineral and protein together as a means for solving the exercise problem nothing will exceed the legume hay proposition.

CLEARFIELD CO. AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING HERE ON WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9TH AT 10 A. M.

Organization Which Is Backbone of The County
Fair, Farmer's Institute and Many Other Worth
While Things, Will Hold Election of Officers.

EVERY FARMER SHOULD BE PRESENT

The Clearfield County Agricultural Society, one of the oldest Organizations in the County, and the oldest Agricultural Organization, will hold their annual meeting and election of officers in the Arbitration Room, Court House, Wednesday, January 9th, beginning at 10:00 a. m. in the morning.

The Agricultural Society promotes the County Fair, the Farmers Institutes over the County, and many other things tending to a greater agricultural prosperity.

Every citizen is eligible to join this Organization upon payment of the annual fee of twenty-five cents per year. This fee is used for postage and other incidental expenses connected with the Organization.

The communities which are to have Local Farmers' Institutes, this coming winter, should send in an application for the same to this meeting of farmers, from the community, at the meeting. If this is not possible, then a list of the members with their fee of twenty-five cents should be sent with their representative to the meeting.

The work of the Agricultural Society has been outstanding during the past year, especially in the work of the County Fair and the Farmers Institutes. Help to make the year 1924 a better year, if such is possible, by turning out for the meeting, and taking a part in the Organization.

"AVERAGE" DAIRY COW WILL NEVER RETURN A PROFIT

Under present conditions it is impossible to make a financial success of the dairy business unless it is properly and skillfully managed. Markets will never be such that poor cows, regardless of how well they are fed, can return a profit, nor can the good cow poorly kept and managed be profitable. High production is the basis of profitable production. In a study of the cost of producing milk on six hundred and ninety farms in Pennsylvania it was found that dairymen whose herds were producing on an average of over nine thousand pounds of milk per cow per year were producing milk at less than half the cost of those whose herds produced between three and four thousand pounds of milk per cow. It is highly important to know how much each cow in the herd is producing. No dairyman should feel satisfied with a cow producing less than seven thousand pounds of butter fat per year. The Barcock test and milk scales provide the only means of really settling this important question, and the dairyman who fails to use them is adding unnecessary hazard to his chances of making a profit. If by using this means he finds that some of the cows in the herd are producing less than seven thousand pounds of milk he will be money ahead to dispose of them at once.

The price of feed and labor compared with the price of milk is the ruling factor in determining the profit after the owner finds out whether the animal is capable of producing a profit. With prices of dairy products no higher than they were a year ago, and prices of feed fifteen to twenty per cent higher, it behooves every dairyman to analyze his herd very carefully and to start the new year with a resolution that he will find out exactly what each and every cow in his herd is doing. In the average herd of ten cows three or four are making a profit, while the other six or seven are losing money for the owner.

If the year 1924 is to be a financial success to the dairyman, he must weed out these poor producers and save the price of expensive feed and use it for cows that will produce a profit with the proper feed and care.

Importance of the Dairy Industry" by M. D. Munn, president of the National Dairy Council. Other men appearing on the program that day are M. T. Phillips, a prominent Guernsey breeder of Pomeroy, Pennsylvania; Dr. Groves of the Dairy Division at Washington; E. B. Fitts, head of the dairy extension department at State College; Dr. T. E. Munce, of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Harrisburg; and W. D. Combs, in charge of dairy manufacturing at State College.

"Methods of Advertising Dairy Products" by D. S. Root of the Dairymen's League will be the opening talk on Thursday. Problems confronting the dairy manufacturer will be taken up by such men as Ernest Kelly of the United States Dairy Division, J. Ture.

Third Annual Poultry School For Week To Be Held February 4th to 9th

One week of intensive poultry instruction, arranged primarily for the students taking corresponding courses, however, open to anyone in the State who is interested in poultry, will be held at the Pennsylvania State College during the week of February 4th to 9th.

The exercises during the week will furnish an opportunity for discussion and for other work which cannot readily be given through correspondence. The entire poultry plant of the College will be available and used for the work. This includes houses of various kinds, incubators and brooding equipment; several hundred laying White Leghorns and pullets, some of the best record Barred Rock hens for breeding and exhibition flocks of the leading breeds of poultry.

The faculty of the Poultry Department, and the staff of the Poultry Extension Division will devote their time, during the week, to instructing the students.

The program will include feeding, mixing rations, incubating and brooding problems and housing, marketing, judging, poultry farm management and diseases.

A registration fee of one dollar will be charged to cover expenses of material used. Rooms for the week may be had at three to five dollars, while boarding will cost six to seven dollars for the same period.

Anyone expecting to attend this week of instruction should send their name to Professor T. I. Maize, Director of Correspondence Courses in Agriculture and Home Economics, State College, Pennsylvania, or send their name to the Farm Bureau Office, where it will be forwarded to the proper place.

REDUCED FARE TO FARM PRODUCTS SHOW

The different railroads of the State have once more adopted the Trunk Line Certificates, or commonly known as Farm Certificates, to those who wish to attend the State Farm Products Show at Harrisburg, January 22nd to 25th.

These Certificates can be obtained from the Farm Bureau Office where a sample is on hand at the present time. One of these Certificates will be sufficient for all of the members of one family, and should be properly filled out and identified at the Railroad Station where the ticket is purchased for Harrisburg. The ticket must then be stamped at the State Show at Harrisburg, which will permit when presented at the Railroad Ticket Office, a reduced fare of one-half the return trip, making a total reduction of one-fourth for the round trip.

C. Joslin of the Greenville Dairy Company, Thomas Hall of the Bliss Ice Cream Company at Harrisburg and J. M. McKee, Deputy Secretary of Agricultural United States Dairy Division, J. Ture.

Curwensville's Own Column

Borough Curwensville in extra session Monday evening, the call being to discuss the Anderson creek bridge question, and to devise ways and means for rebuilding the same. A petition almost a yard in length and numerously signed by citizens was presented to Council for its earnest consideration. The petition was accepted and to those who presented the paper were given assurance that it would receive proper attention and deliberation. An attorney from Clearfield had been employed by the petitioners who was present and presented the claim of his clients to having a bridge erected on site of the one which had gone down in September. Council also gave out the information that it had already a petition signed by every member of that august body and also the Burgess, which would be presented to the February grand jury for action, the substance of which was asking some financial aid from the county in the new construction. A number of parties operating slot machines in their places of business were present and asked for information relative to the legality of operating the same. This item of business was laid on the table until the regular meeting which will be held on Monday, January 7th, when the question will come up for consideration and final decision.

The funeral of George Ellinger, whose death was noted in this letter yesterday, was held from his late home in Pike township, Tuesday afternoon, the body being interred in the Woods cemetery. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Frank Fullerton, Mrs. Frank Hancy and a brother of Peter Ellinger, of Troutville.

Mrs. C. W. McDowell and children, of Stonesboro, Pa., are visiting in the home of M. and Mrs. Henry Leathers Bailey road, the two ladies being sisters.

Rev. Fullerton, wife and little son, of Pittsburgh, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Fullerton's mother, Mrs. Nathaniel Hipps, South Side, and at the home of H. P. Fullerton, Bloomington avenue.

Word has been received here by friends concerning the death of Rev. W. Lee, which occurred at his home in Kane City. He was pastor of the Bethel A. M. E. church in Curwensville last year.

Henry Burgen returned to Curwensville Monday after spending Christmas week with his wife in Builtemore, N. C.

Paul Cochrane spent the holidays with relatives and friends at New Castle, Pa.

Rev. L. C. Taylor has been assigned to the Bethel A. M. E. church and will preach on Sunday, Jan. 6th, and every other Sabbath evening until further notice.

The Misses Lulu, Minnie, Leora and Beva Stewart left on Monday for Port Royal for a visit with their aunt, Mrs. Marshall Andrews.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Gardner at their home in Lumber City, on Christmas day, a fine baby boy.

Mrs. Harriet Williams, who has been spending some time visiting with Miss Mary Hartshorn, has gone to DuBois for a visit with her many friends and acquaintances.

Nash M. Heiler, foreman of the beam shop at Fanna. Hide and Leather tannery, was presented a fine gold watch as a token of the appreciation in which he is held by the men who work under his employ. The gift was received on New Years Day.

Howard Thompson is in Philadelphia this week looking after coal interests in which he is interested with several other Curwensville young men.

Mrs. Ray Brown and children came up from Clearfield last Saturday and spent several days with her mother, Mrs. Hiram Gardner. Before returning home she will go to Lumber City to view the new Christmas gift left at the home of her brother, Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones and children, Howard and Freda Jane, have returned to their home in Jersey Shore, after a two week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Owen Jones.

Mrs. Anna Gibson, of Clearfield, spent last Sunday with her aunts, the Misses Hartshorn.

The revival services at the Alliance church are growing in interest and attendance. At the service last night there were five who were converted. The evangelist's subject was "Three Hells." His subject for tonight will be "The Exceeding Right of the Gospel." He will sing "The Sinner and the Song." Friends don't miss these opportunities of hearing these stirring bible truths in which we are all so much interested.

Abraham T. Bloom, residing between here and Bridgeport, died suddenly near the noon hour yesterday. He had not been in good health for a number of months, yet was able to go to the brick yard off and on and attend to his work there. The morning of his death he was not feeling very well and did not go to the yard as usual but remained at home. Abraham T. Bloom was a son of William (familiarily known as Tripp) Bloom and was born on a farm located near Ansonville, known as the Billy Bloom farm, on February 2d, 1839, hence was aged 84 years, 11 months and 27 days. He followed team work and lumbering until the breaking out of the Civil war, when he in 1862 enlisted in Captain John Irvin's Company B, 149th, Pa. Volunteers. He was wounded once or twice during his term of service, and at the Battle of Gettysburg was taken prisoner with a number of his comrades. The Confederates being unable to carry the prisoners with them in their retreat, paroled them on the field. Mr. Bloom came home thinking the parole was good until he was again captured by the army while discovered that the Union army officials did not recognize such a release. He hustled back to the army and upon his arrival was immediately arrested as a deserter. When he told his story before the army court board he was released from the charge of wilful desertion and joined his regiment and served until the mustering out of the regiment in 1864. He was married to the widow Kuhn, whose maiden name was Margaret McKee prior to her first marriage. No children were born to her union with Mr. Bloom, and her death occurred Nov. 19th, 1910, leaving one son by her first husband, Geo. Kuhn, who resides near Ansonville. For more than a dozen years Mr. Bloom has been employed by the Crescent Refractories company as a sort of a watchman, which duty he faithfully performed and passed away with the friendship of all the several hundred men employed at the plant. He is survived by one brother, Miles Bloom, and one sister, Mrs. Clark Arthurs, besides a legion of nephews, nieces and relatives. For many years he was a member of the Baptist church, and also a consistent member of Bethesda Lodge No. 821, I. O. O. F. of this place. He was also a member of John Kratzer Post, G. A. R. No. 184.

during its existence. No arrangements for the funeral had been announced at this writing (Wednesday evening.)

Yukon Chicken Ranching. Chicken raising in Alaska presents difficulties. In summer the chickens that do not like 24 hours of daylight are in darkest spots at night. In winter the chickens must be lighted in order to make the chickens lay. It is the custom during the winter to put chickens out to board in light boarding houses. These are log buildings, lined and oiled, with the space between filled with shavings and heated with air-tight stoves.

KNOWN DEAD, AND 27 OTHERS MISSING IN DUST EXPLOSION IN CORN STARCH MILL AT PEKIN, ILL.

Worth Too Much To Throw Away

LOCATE DIXMUDE
London, Jan. 3 (INS).—Observation balloons from the French air base at Toulon have located the wreck of the Dixmude in the Mediterranean Sea, three miles south of San Marco, according to a Paris dispatch to the Daily News tonight. The wreck was submerged. Drag nets were used by the balloons.

MUST WANT TO DEPOPULATE THE HOUSE

Washington, Dec. 3. (INS).—A program of prohibition enforcement so drastic that it would bar drinking congressmen from the floor of the House or prohibit American diplomats abroad from taking a drink, was presented to Congress today by Representative William D. Upshaw, Democrat, of Georgia, the leading dry champion of the House.

SENATE AUTHORIZES MAYFIELD INQUIRY

Washington, Jan. 3. (INS).—The Senate today authorized an investigation of the Texas Senator's election.

Washington, Jan. 3. (INS).—Ideas that under the Ku Klux Klan have found an echo in the Johnson immigration bill, declared Louis Marshall prominent New York lawyer, when he appeared before the House immigration committee today to protest against the restriction bill now pending.

1923 NOT A SAFETY FIRST YEAR

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 3. (INS).—More accidents were reported to the Bureau of Workmen's compensation of the Department of Labor and Industry last year than in any since 1917, reports compiled today showed the increase over 1922 was 4,186 and the total for the year 200,435.

COKE OUTPUT FOR '23 AWAY HEAD OF '22

Cornellville, Pa., Jan. 3. (INS).—The Cornellville coke region in 1923 produced 13,114,340 tons of coke having an aggregate value of $77,374,606 as compared with 5,875,000 tons in 1922 when the value was $40,576,250, according to statistics made public here today. The 1923 output was the largest since 1918.

Pittsburgh Fears Rains Will Cause Flood And Sends Out Warnings

Pittsburgh, Jan. 3. (INS).—Flood warnings for all points along the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio Rivers were issued by the local weather bureau at 10:25 this morning when the rivers, receiving the heavy rains at all points along the Pennsylvania watershed, began rising slowly. By 1 o'clock this afternoon, weather bureau officials said, the full effect of yesterday's heavy rains will begin to be felt and the rivers from then on will rise rapidly. From early reports, it was said, it is impossible to say when the crest will be reached.

HALF MILLION - DOLLAR UNIT OF BIG PLANT NOW IN RUINS

Pekin, Ill., Jan. 3. (INS).—Seven bodies were taken from the ruins of the Corn Products Company's starch plant here just before noon today. An eighth man, hurt when a dust explosion destroyed the unit of the $8,000,000 refinery, died in a Pekin hospital. Twenty seven others were shown by a company check up to be missing.

One of the bodies was unidentified. The others were said to be those of: George Harms, Lee Harding, Louis Schmidt, William Ruml, John Hooker, William Vogelsang.

The man who died in a hospital was James Fulton. Nearly fifty injured were in Pekin hospitals and homes.

Efforts to establish the casualties with indisputable accuracy were frustrated by company officials, who placed armed sentinels about the plant and refused admission to all but rescue workers.

Women and other relatives of the dead and missing were herded outside, where they frantically tried to learn the fate of their kin.

Officials of the corporation said that their information showed 34 injured to be under treatment, either in hospitals or homes.

Rescue workers had great difficulty in pushing their search through the water drenched ruins in weather which closely approached the zero mark.

About 120 men were believed to be in the building when the explosion came. Fire followed the blast and spread to the wet starch room and a warehouse, destroying them and bringing property loss above the half million mark.

The Corn Products Company's eight million dollar plant is located a mile and a half south west of the business district of the town. The dry starch building occupied approximately half a city block.

Employees said the blaze followed so closely after the explosion that the entire structure was a mass of flames almost instantly and escape would have been an impossibility for some of the men on the upper floors of the four story structure.

Pekin firemen were called, but found the blaze uncontrollable. Calls for aid were sent to Peoria immediately and fire trucks responded with the ambulances bearing physicians to the work of rescue. When Peoria firemen arrived the structure was practically in ruins. They confined their efforts to saving other buildings threatened by the blaze.

Among the seriously injured by the blast, it is feared that many will die. Some lost arms and legs in the blast and others were severely burned.

The fate of nine men loading starch into four freight cars when the blast came still, was in doubt this afternoon. The force of the explosion telescoped the cars and twisted them into a mass of wreckage beneath which it was impossible to delve in search of the men. Rescuers told of hearing moans coming from there and assumed the men were buried. The moans ceased this morning.

The starch room is located in a four story building and all of the injured were in that structure, which was almost completely destroyed by the blast. Fire following the explosion completed the work of devastation.

The plant, valued at several million dollars and covering a territory of a mile square, works 24 hours a day.

PARIS THREATENED WITH BAD FLOOD BY SEINE'S OVERFLOW

By FREDERICK K. ABBOT
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Paris, Jan. 3.—With railroad stations closed, public buildings isolated and suburbs flooded, the River Seine continued to rise today threatening Paris with the worst flood in history.

The river at noon had reached the stage of 21 feet and 10 inches, the highest in history except during the disastrous flood in 1910.

The water has cut off the supply of electricity in the Invalides district.

Clerks in the ministry of finance worked feverishly transferring documents and files from the basement to the second floor.

The great Foreign Office building is surrounded by water.

Official flood stage reading and weather forecasts are being broadcast by the Eiffel tower wireless station.

Many people are homeless in the suburbs and tremendous property damage has been done. The river has risen so slowly that all had a chance to get to high ground and there have been no casualties.

Suburbs bordering the Seine resemble a scene from Venice. Many families that refused to abandon their homes moved into the second floor. Mail and foodstuffs are delivered from boats.

The Orleans railway station also has been closed.

Train schedules have been abandoned.

Rains along the upper Seine continue, making it impossible to say when the crest of the flood will be reached.

NEW YORK LAWYER TO HANDLE THAW'S CASE FOR FREEDOM

New York, Jan. 3. (INS).—Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, will come to New York, and here face all charges pending against him, providing he wins his freedom from the Kirkbride Insane Asylum, Philadelphia, his attorney, Bartholomew B. Coyne, announced today.

That he is charged with luring Frederick Cump, former 19-year-old Kansas City, Mo. boy to New York, and whipping him with a leather thong. The alleged assault occurred Christmas night, 1916.

Coyne was to visit Thaw at the Philadelphia asylum this afternoon. Final plans for bringing Thaw's case before a jury seeking to prove him now sane, but admitting his insanity in the past, will be discussed. Papers in the appeal will be filed in the Pennsylvania courts Jan. 14, Coyne said.

Not Seeking Freedom

For Thaw, Says Gordon
Philadelphia, Jan. 3. (INS).—Former Judge Gordon, counsel for Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, of Pittsburgh, today repeated denials that efforts were being made by the Thaw family to secure release of Harry Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, from the Pennsylvania Hospital for mental and nervous diseases. A story to this effect was published yesterday in New York.

Misses Marian and Grace Underwood returned to Pittsburgh after a pleasant vacation at their home on Tenth street.

JOHNSON, FACING AN ALMOST SOLID WALL OF COOLIDGE MEN, BEGINS FIGHT IN OHIO

Cleveland, O., Jan. 3.—Facing an apparently solid phalanx of organization sentiment for the renomination of President Coolidge at the Republican convention next June, Senator Hiram Johnson, actively began his fight for Ohio's delegates today.

In a speech which he will make at Masonic auditorium tonight, the fiery Californian is expected to define clearly the issues upon which he will seek the nomination, having his eyes not only upon Ohio, but on the great middle western states of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Iowa, as well as considering the situation in Pennsylvania where Gov. Pinchot, an old time "Progressive" colleague at Arundelton and other points in 1912, may enter the lists.

Accompanied by his national manager, Frank H. Hitchcock, Senator Johnson arrived in Cleveland at 8:30 this morning and went immediately to the Hotel Cleveland, where quarters had been reserved for him. The day was to be spent in conference with Johnson supporters from all parts of the midwest, and several important announcements were expected to be made.

WILL STAGE A HOME TALENT SHOW

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will stage a home talent show at the Hotel Cleveland, where they wish all amateur players to meet at the Globe theatre on Friday evening for the purpose of formulating plans.

A CORRECTION

The item in last evening's Progress stating that Mrs. Trostle was in the hospital was incorrect. Mrs. Trostle was brought home from the hospital more than two weeks ago, and is improving satisfactorily at her home on Clearfield street.

DINES DEVELOPS PNEUMONIA; SORDID DETAILS OF NEW YEAR PARTY IN WHICH FILM STARS FIGURED ARE NOW RELATED

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Los Angeles, Jan. 3.—Pneumonia, which developed over night in the case of Courtland S. Dines, wealthy Denver oil man, today threw a shadow of possible murder over Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, who shot him.

A complaint charging Greer with attempted murder was drawn up by the district attorney's office today and arrangements were made for his arraignment in court.

The attempted murder complaint will be superseded by one charging first degree murder if Dines dies.

Seek Motive

Los Angeles, Jan. 3.—Police endeavoring to disclose the real motive in the shooting Tuesday night of Courtland S. Dines by Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, entered their efforts of checking the past record of Greer.

At the hospital Dines was fighting a battle with death.

And by strange coincidence, in the same hospital Miss Normand was denied all callers by her physician, Dr. Dudley Fulton.

She arrived there last night attended by a maid and no announcement was made as to her condition.

At her home, it was said she was suffering from nervousness. However, at the time of his arrest, Greer gave as his reason for insisting that Miss Normand go home from Dines' apartment with him, the statement that the film star was to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Greer's last night's fight, the police report, was a desperate one. He was seen in the hospital at the time of the shooting.

Bucknell Glee Club To Give Entertainment Here Saturday Night

The Bucknell Glee Club is scheduled to give a concert in the High School auditorium on Jan. 5. This means that the people of Clearfield will receive a very excellent musical treat.

The annual Christmas trip of the Bucknell Glee Club has become an established affair throughout the entire state of Pennsylvania. The concerts are a source of keen enjoyment to thousands of enthusiasts who attend them annually.

Under the direction of Prof. Ralph Hartz who studied with the head master of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Naples, Italy and former manager and assistant director of the Bucknell Club, the club has this year built up a reputation for itself in musical circles. Twenty-eight men will comprise the glee club and they will give a varied program that is sure to please.

There is a spontaneity and an enthusiasm about a college glee club which sets it apart from any other entertainment. Any man or woman who has ever been to college or who has sent a son or daughter to college or has been connected with a university cannot resist the light hearted atmosphere of a college musical club.

GETS $1,000 SCIENCE AWARD

Cincinnati, Jan. 3. (INS).—Professor L. E. Dickson, of the chair of Mathematics of the University of Chicago, has been awarded the $1,000 prize offered by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, whose 75th convention in Cincinnati, ended yesterday, for the most outstanding contribution to science during 1923. Nevil M. Fenniman of the University of Cincinnati, announced the award today.

Misses Edyth and Evelyn Underwood have returned to Portage to take up their duties as teachers, after a pleasant vacation.

lice he had been employed by several prominent film celebrities and officers were unable to learn who they were. He said he went to work for Miss Normand about two months ago.

A Would-Be Hero

Defective Hermit Clime renewed his assertion today that he did not believe Greer fired to protect himself but that he had conceived the idea that he was the protector of Miss Normand and was madly in love with her. This Greer emphatically denied, claiming he shot Dines after an argument when Dines tried to keep him from taking Miss Normand home from the apartment where the oil man was entertaining Miss Edna Purviance, Charlie Chaplin's leading woman, after Miss Normand had called him. It is Clime's theory that Greer went to Dines' apartment as a self-appointed hero and when upon his arrival at Dines' home he was scoffed at and told to leave, the shooting followed.

Miss Normand, questioned a second time by the police in an effort to clear up conflicting stories as to just what preceded the shooting, said:

"When Greer came in where we were, he said something about it being time for me to go. I remember Mr. Dines also said something about it. He didn't see why I should be dictated to by my chauffeur and the next thing I knew Greer had fired the shots and Dines was on the floor. It was all a surprise and happened so hurriedly, I remember little of what happened."

Greer's Opinion of Mabel

Mabel Normand, one of America's best known film actresses, today was pictured as a "poor little girl who couldn't say no when some one suggested a party."

Greer and his friends repeated his story that he was a "poor little girl who couldn't say no when some one suggested a party."

HUGH GAULIN AND 'SQUIRE CURLEY RETAIN PLACES WHICH THEY HAVE ACCEPTABLY FILLED FOR LONG TIME

PORT MATILDA HAS DREAMS OF BEING ON BIG HIGHWAY

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 3. (INS).—A movement to secure the construction of a modern highway between Bellefonte and Tyrone, to connect by an almost straight route the famous Lakes-to-the-Sea Highway and the Susquehanna and Horse Shoe Trails, has been launched by the Community Welfare Association of Port Matilda.

At a special meeting last night the association named a committee to interview the State Highway Department officials and the Center county commissioners concerning the proposed highway and report at another meeting called for January 8.

The proposed highway, it is said, would be about 15 miles shorter than the present route through State College and would traverse a section of beautiful mountain scenery. It is hoped construction may be started by spring.

CONGRESS IS BACK ON THE JOB WITH BONUS AND TAX PROBLEMS PRESSING SOLUTION

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 3.—Congress came back to Washington today fresh from a contact with the home fires to face a continuation of the bickering and fighting that has thus far prevented the accomplishment of any legislation.

The gauge of battle was picked up today exactly where it was laid down two weeks ago—in the Senate row over the election of a chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee was resumed, and in the House the taxation-bonus issue again occupied the attention of members.

No progress was made during the recess toward the adjustment of any of the score or more of fights that were started in the opening days of the session, and the leaders confessed today their inability to make any definite predictions as to the probable accomplishments of the sixty-eighth congress.

A tax revision bill will be passed by the sixty-eighth Congress on that all factions are agreed. The stacks of letters and telegrams piled high on the desks of returning congressmen bore eloquent testimony today to the country-wide demand for relief. But neither Republicans, Democrats or the so-called Insurgents were brave enough today to predict what kind of a bill finally will be adopted or how much actual cash will be lopped off the tax payers' annual budget. The situation is that complicated.

It appears virtually certain today that the bonus is soon to supplant legislation in the House Ways and Means Committee which now has the Mellon bill before it.

BIG BSAEBALL OFFER IS REPORTED MADE

New York, Jan. 3. (INS).—A report was in circulation today that John McGraw, manager of the Giants, had offered $50,000 and four players to Louisville for Pitcher Wayland Dean and outfielder Earl Combs, stars of the American Association.

Byrd Thorpe is confined to his home with the chicken pox.

Carl A. Anderson Gets Stock Job; Bill Leavy Makes Way For Chase Torrence on Juveniles

JOHN SMITH LANDS

Judge-elect A. R. Chase, Esq., will assume the duties of President Judge of the courts of Clearfield county on Monday, January 7th, and, as was to be expected, some changes will be made in the officials about the Court House, who hold their positions by reason of the Judge's favor.

Judge Chase has already selected his official family and every instance in which he is congratulated upon the choice he has made. For Court Reporter, Hugh B. Gaulin has been re-elected. Mr. Gaulin stands alone in his class, being very justly styled the best court reporter in Clearfield County, bar none, and Judge Chase's reappointing of him to this important office will meet with universal approval. The salary of court reporter is $2,500.

Court Crier and Librarian W. L. Curley, who served acceptably in those positions during the past ten years, has also been named to these positions by Judge Chase. Mr. Curley's abilities and efficiency entitled him to the place and his reappointment is a source of genuine satisfaction to all the members of the Bar as well as all who have had business with the court. The combined salaries for the two places total $1,340, or $1,000 per year as court crier and $240 as librarian or keeper of the law library.

For Deserion Court Probation Officer, Carl A. Anderson, of Clearfield, is named to succeed John A. Stock, who held the position during Judge Bell's incumbency. Mr. Anderson should prove to be a capable, competent officer. He is a native of Cooper township, where he resided for many years before coming to Clearfield about three years ago to engage in the wholesale paper business. He is a man of discretion and judgment and eminently fitted for the position to which he has been named. The salary is $2,000 per year and expenses.

For Juvenile Probation Officer Judge Chase has named Charles L. Torrence, of Clearfield, to succeed W. J. Leavy. Mr. Torrence is a Clearfield business man of many years' residence and is well qualified for the position, which requires a man of experience in handling young people. The job pays $1,350 and expenses.

Measures Stock and Leavy will retain their offices until February 1st, given Judge Chase having prevailed upon both gentlemen to remain in the service during the balance of January in order that they may give the new appointees the benefit of their experience in these positions.

Chief Tiptaft Lloyd Jacobs is succeeded by John P. Smith, of Clearfield. The title to the position is new but Mr. Jacobs has been acting for several years at quarter sessions court. Hereafter Tiptaft Smith will be on duty at all sessions of court. He is also health officer for Lawrence township and will continue to act in that capacity. The salary of the chief tipsaft is $900 per year.

For Court Interpreters Judge Chase has named Mrs. Annie Koval of Morris township and Samuel Tenney, of Clearfield, who served as such during Judge Bell's term.

In addition to the appointments here given, Judge Chase has made several orders governing the business of the several courts he will preside over and also named the following committees to serve for two years:

Lax Examining Committee: John C. Arnold, Edward T. Kelly, Lloyd B. McCall, Cortes Bell, Clarence Kistner.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

According to the records of Deputy State Game Protector W. J. Davis, of Clearfield, there were 591 illegal buck deer killed in Clearfield during the year ending of 1923, which closed December 1st. The same records show a total of 50 illegal bucks and does killed and reported to or found by the game protectors.

This is the greatest number of illegal deer ever killed in any one season in this county and simply goes to show that some hunters are entirely too careless. There might be some reason for excusing the hungry "meat hunter" who downs a spike buck and finds the spikes too short, but there is no excuse in any but rare cases for the fellow who shoots a doe. That fellow is either reckless or careless or both and should be kept out of the woods. Double the fine and take the hunting license of the doe killer from him and there will be fewer does all.

During the hunting season of 1922 there were 628 bucks killed in Clearfield county or 37 more than 1923's kill.

Perhaps a King the State Game Commission to get behind a law at the next session of the Pennsylvania Legislature making it illegal to hunt birds with dogs in the game covers of the state are being circulated in several sections of the county at present, the more being designed to preserve the native grouse or native pheasant for a few years more.

The extent to which labor unions have gone into banking is indicated by the fact that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Co-operative Trust Company opened in New York City with $100,000 capital and $250,000 in surplus. It is the ninth financial institution in action by that old, practical and well-conducted organization. The variety of service it offers, from buying theatre tickets to serving as executor of estates, indicates the majority of labor leaders in taking advantage of the broad opportunities of a wise offered to trust companies under the law.

Reuben, as is familiar with volver," Greer said. "I was going to handling large one. It has $102,000, 000 in outstanding insurance and pays $8,000,000 a year upon that account, a sum which tends constantly to increase.

Every year beginning with 1923 will consist of thirteen months instead of twelve, if astronomers have their way at the League of Nations committee meeting on calendar revision next year. The plan for inserting an extra month in the proposed world-wide calendar was evolved at the meeting was originated by M. B. Cotsworth, of Vancouver, B. C.

History is the antidote for pessimism. In 1588, the population of England was under five million. In 1653, there wasn't a physician in the whole of Sweden. In 1662, Britons were condemned without jury trial and forced to swallow boiling lead, while, across the Channel, royal decree furnished a husky criminal annually to the physicians of Montpellier for vivisection. In 1698, two hundred thousand Scots begged from door to door and subsisted upon the proceeds of robbery and murder, an one out of every fourteen inhabitants died of smallpox.

Dines Develops Pneumonia

claim that he shot Dines in self defense and denied emphatically any infatuation for the actress. However, while discussing his relations with Miss Normand, Greer grew sentimental and declared: "She is the sweetest little woman in the world when she is sober, but disgusting when she is otherwise, and I hated to see her going that way." He also admitted proudly that Miss Normand had given him a pair of platinum cuff links for Christmas and declared that was a good little "boss."

Greer declared that Mrs. Edith Burns, companion of Miss Normand, told him that Miss Normand had called from Dines' apartment and said for him to come after her. Mrs. Burns, he said, told him that while she was talking with Miss Normand, Dines had broken in on the wire and said that Miss Normand was not coming home.

"I knew that Dines was bigger than myself and before leaving I went to Miss Normand's room and got her

Reuben, as is familiar with volver," Greer said. "I was going to bring her home no matter what Dines said about it.

"When I stepped into the room, I told Miss Normand I had come for her and to get ready. She said something I didn't catch and Dines came toward me threateningly. He tried to push me back and when he failed, reached back of him for a bottle. I thought he was going to hit me with it and fired at him.

"I think a lot of Miss Normand but I'm not in love with her. She was to have gone to the hospital today for an appendicitis operation and I knew she was sick and did not think it right for her to be over there drinking."

"When some one suggests a party, Miss Normand, the poor little kid, doesn't know when to say no. One of her New Year's resolutions was no more wild parties and the first thing she does is go over to Dines' and start drinking."

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

LESS WHEAT SOWN

American farmers have sown about 6,000 acres less in winter wheat than usual. That is expected to result in a production loss of about 100,000,000 bushels. The spring wheat acreage also will probably be curtailed.

This is a natural reaction to the slack demand for the crops of the last two or three years, with their low prices. Farmers collectively and individually are disinclined to continue raising any crop on the same scale when recent experience has shown that it does not pay, and prefer to substitute better-paying crops or even let the land lie idle.

Nevertheless it is unfortunate for the world, and possibly unfortunate for the farmers themselves. Perfectly obvious solutions to a big problem are often short-sighted. Nowhere is long-range vision more necessary than in agriculture. Such vision in this case would suggest not the concentration of effort on crop-production but on the stimulation of the foreign market to absorb a normal crop.

Millions of people abroad are starving for bread. An organized effort to stabilize the economic life of Europe might revive a market which would take, at good prices, all the wheat this country could produce, along with great quantities of manufactured products. American participation in the German reparation inquiry is a good beginning in that direction.

KEEP THEM HOME FROM SCHOOL

One of the ways in which Wisconsin expresses its interest in the health of its children is by insisting that parents keep home from school "the child with a cold, the child with a rash, the child with a fever, the child with a cough, the child with a sore throat, the child with a swelling on its face, the child that fails to eat breakfast because of illness, the child that is nauseated, dizzy, or faint, the child with weeping eyes, the child with any marked change in appearance or conduct, the child with red eyes, the child from a quarantined home".

Parents with a combined respect for regularity of school attendance and a feeling that children should not be coddled in their petty ailments may think that a foolish list. It is far from foolish.

A good many serious diseases—masquerading in the past as "children's diseases" and of little importance—show one or more of the above symptoms in their early stages. And the early stages are usually the infectious stages. Experience has proved often that the sending to school of children who have appeared to have only a trifling indisposition has resulted in a serious epidemic which has taken a heavy toll of health, and even of life, in the community. Sending one child to school when he should have been isolated at home has sometimes caused the complete closing of the schools, because of the epidemic it has started.

JOBS FOR DOBBIN

In spite of widespread interest in the victories and defeats of Spark Plug, that horse hero of the comic section, there has been a growing popular belief that the horse was on its last legs, so to speak, and would within a century or so be found

A WOMAN'S CAPITAL

Just as you turn to your wife to organize your home, so your wife turns to you to conserve capital and make it productive. Most women, during their husband's or father's lifetime, give little thought to the management of capital. Then suddenly they find themselves with capital in their hands. Consider how much better it would be if you would establish a trust by your will, administered by a Trustee. And how admirably such a Trust would work if this old experienced institution was named as Trustee and the life-long training of its officers were used to invest and manage your capital.

EXHIBITS FOR FARM PRODUCTS SHOW SENT FREE BY BUREAU

The Farm Bureau will collect and send free of charge all exhibits of corn, potatoes, grain, butter, eggs, etc., that the farmers of the County may wish to send to the State Farm Products Show, to be held in Harrisburg, January 22nd to 25th.

The Farm Bureau has Premium Books on hand in the Office for distribution for any one desiring the same. These books will be mailed or given out upon request.

All exhibits that are sent to the Farm Bureau Office for shipment should be packed securely, with entry blank or card showing the name and address and County of the exhibitor, and tell in which class each exhibit entered.

In the case of corn, potatoes and fruit, each ear of corn or apple, etc., should be wrapped separately so as to protect it from bruise or shelling. In the case of eggs, special containers will be furnished upon request, by writing to L. W. Steelman, State College. Containers for milk products can be obtained from L. W. Morley, State College.

All exhibits sent to the Farm Bureau Office for shipment should reach Clearfield not later than Friday, January 18th.

Clearfield County should be well represented at the State Show this year. Our County Fair proves that this County has as good products as any, and if a little effort were taken to look over the stock on hand, a very desirable exhibit could be obtained. Let us all work together and put Clearfield County on the map at Harrisburg this year.

WOMAN OF 97 ILL

Mrs. Nancy Parks is seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John B. Davis on Linden street, where she has made her home for the past twenty years. Mrs. Parks is in her 97th year. She has been bedfast for a week.

There now are several countries in Europe where a man can be a millionaire and a pauper at one and the same time.

Another trouble about a ninety-nine year lease is that a fellow hardly ever lives long enough to renew one of them.

only in museums, along with the dinosaur and other extinct creatures. Now, however, no less authorities than the secretary of the American horse association and a professor of paleontology at a large university come forward to aver that the horse will live and thrive and be useful as long as the human race endures.

The practical economy of the horse remains unchallenged, they say, for many purposes. Tractors, motor cars and other modern machinery may have their place in the general scheme of things. But they will never, as was thought for a time, displace the horse completely.

It is true that there are more horses than the country uses now, but there are not enough horses for certain specific jobs. So it becomes chiefly a matter of adjustment and efficiency, eliminating the unfit and keeping the right kind of horses to meet the demand.

Mailing Lists are People

Don't let anybody in your place forget that those printed names or stencils stand for real, human people.

Your catalog or your booklet or your house organ is something somebody gets from you.

Each person is conscious of opening a container, taking out a piece of printing, and looking at it.

These people don't see anything to the printing you send them but what is there. If it's good printing, they see good printing. If it's poor printing, they see poor printing.

If you talked with a good printer and later gave the job to a poor printer, they see the work of a poor printer. If you considered using a good paper, but decided finally on a cheap paper, they see only the cheap paper.

If you started out to do a fine job, but item by item let mediocrity creep in, it's a mediocre job they see. What your mailing list thinks about your business is what your business is.

Send out Better Printing and each person on your mailing list will have a better conception of you and the things you sell.

MILKING SHORTHORN CATTLE FOR SALE

The Farm Bureau has been advised that a small herd of milking Shorthorn cattle in the County is for sale. This herd has some very good breeding back of it. Any of the animals for sale would be desirable for foundation stock, or to add to any herd by one wishing that breed. For further information write or call the Farm Bureau, Clearfield, Pennsylvania.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR THE OXLEYS

The employees of Leonardson Company's store held a delightful farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Oxley at the home of Mrs. Lucinda Lawhead on S. Second street, New Year's eve. During the evening the employees presented Mr. Oxley with a handsome leather traveling bag.

Mr. and Mrs. Oxley and family will leave next week for their new home in Philipsburg where Mr. Oxley will conduct a large department store.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE AT DRIFTING

A birthday surprise party was given Mrs. George Stineker at her home at Drifting, in Cooper town ship, on December 28th, in honor of her 75th birthday. Thirty-two were present and an enjoyable time was had. Mrs. George Shifter and Mrs. Rose Anna McGroarty, of Clearfield were among those in attendance.

SERVICES AT REEDS-VILLE CHAPEL TONIGHT

Every Farm Should Have A Well-Stocked Medicine Cabinet

It might be the difference between life and death, especially in the isolated places with roads in the condition they are at the present time. We suggest a few of the things which should be in every medicine cabinet for those little ailments, ailments that are too small to need a physician's services and things which might well be used as first aid in emergencies before the arrival of your physician.

Worship Advice.
A famous bishop had the trick of pronouncing "to" like "tu" thus: "I am full of hot coffee," according to Pett Ridge, who has written "A Story Teller Forty Years in London." Once he was giving advice to a working girls' club, and impressed on the members the necessity for arranging full occupation of their spare time. "Above all girls," he said earnestly, "try to be always available, to cultivate a hobby."—From the Argonaut.

Amalgams
Amalgams is a fairly secretion formed in some special bodies. It is taken from the veins directly, but more often it is found floating in the water, especially in the waters of the tropics. It is also found cast up on beaches in heaps which sometimes exceed 200 pounds in weight. On exposure to the air it develops a sweet disagreeable odor. Amalgams has a high commercial value as a material used in the manufacture of perfumes, and the price is increased due to the rarity of the specimen and the growing demand for the material.

JEFFERSON COUNTY TAKES LEAD HAVING ALL HERDS TESTED

25 Government Men To Begin Big Job Jan. 7th
and Will Not Stop Until
Every T. B. Is Found.

IS GETTING ON MAP

Our neighbor County, Jefferson, on the West, has taken a very important step, and there by placed itself very much on the livestock map, by cleaning up the entire County of tuberculosis from the beef and dairy herds of the County.

The actual drive will take place on the 7th of this month at which time twenty-five or thirty State and Federal Veterinarians will work over the entire County and test every herd for tuberculosis. Over ninety-five per cent of the herds have already been signed up, and an attempt to sign up the other five per cent will be made during the drive.

Jefferson County will then stand in the preferred class with Mercer and Crawford as being the only Counties in the State that will be entirely free from tuberculosis.

It is a step forward in the right direction, and a step that will mean thousands of dollars of increased value to the dairy and beef cattle in Jefferson County. The monetary value will be insignificant compared to the health of the people that will result from the test. It is a proven fact that bovine tuberculosis is transmissible to the human, and a great deal of the tuberculosis in the human family can be traced back to the source, especially through the early stages of childhood. Poultry and hogs are also susceptible to the disease through drinking contaminated milk. This is sufficient reason for any County to make a special effort to eradicate the disease from the herds of the County.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY WOULD FOLLOW THE JEFFERSON TRACK

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the County Farm Bureau, held last week, the members went on record as favoring a project to clean up the entire County of tuberculosis. This means that it will be necessary to have at least ninety per cent of the herd owners in the county sign an agreement to have their herds tested. This should not be difficult if the herd owners fully appreciated the advantage they will have in having the work done. In the first place there is absolutely no cost to the herd owner, and under the plan contemplated every animal that reacts will be paid for by the State and Federal Governments up to approximately ninety per cent of the value of the animal.

The entire proposition is being taken up with State and Federal authorities, as well as with the community leaders in the County, and if present plans work out, an active campaign will be started some time in February. The actual testing could not be done before June. It behooves every dairyman, however, to watch for future developments, and if present plans work out so that the project can be undertaken, to give every assistance possible in signing up and explaining the proposition and what it means to the one who does not understand it.

Watch for special announcements on the subject in the next monthly edition of the Progress, as well as daily and County papers.

COUNTY AGENT OUT OF COUNTY

TWO WEEKS THIS MONTH

The County Farm Agents will be out of the County from January 11th to January 26th, attending conference and educational meetings. From the 11th to the 18th, at Pennsylvania State College attending the Annual County Agent Conference, at which time the Extension men from all the Counties, together with the Specialists, take up the new problems and to lectures from men in other institutions, thereby gaining new knowledge and methods to bring back to the people of the County.

Good Sires Are Now Available And Right In This Community

In a recent survey, made by the County Agent, in several communities, it was found that practically two-thirds of the dairy herds were without the service of a good pure bred sire. Such a condition is hard to believe, but nevertheless it is true and should be remedied.

Dairy authorities are agreed that the sire at the head of the herd is more than half the herd and that if the production of the offspring is to be increased from generation to generation it will be necessary to head the herd with a better sire than the best of the cows in the herd. With scrub cows and pure bred sires results have proven that it is possible, in one generation of the herd, to increase the milk eight to ten percent and the fat thirty-three per cent and the production of the scrub dams, during the next generation will be a slightly better sire, the milk can be increased one hundred and eighty per cent, and the fat one hundred and twenty-eight per cent with the corresponding results that as the production of a cow is doubled the profits will increase three times, and as the production is tripled, profits will increase six times, and so on. With these facts before us it seems hard to believe that any dairyman who desires to stay in the business of producing milk or butter should not have a pure bred sire to head the herd. If it were a question of mortgaging the farm to buy a sire of the right type it might be reasonable enough to hesitate, but since any dairyman can obtain a pure bred sire from a good dam for one hundred to two hundred dollars apiece, depending upon the type, individuality and production of dam, there seems no good reason why the scrub bull should exist any longer.

Dozens of good pure bred bulls are for sale by dairymen of Clearfield County. Many of them are as good as could be obtained by sending off and paying twice the money that would take to buy any of these. The Farm Bureau has a list of breeders who are keeping a record of their cows for milk and butter fat and can furnish any dairyman with information where they can go and see the animals for sale and find out what is back of them. Clearfield County, at the present time, has several of the best bulls in the State and some of the good cows as well.

Let us resolve to dispose of the scrub bull, not to a neighbor, but to the butcher, the only place a scrub bull deserves. Then with the scrub out of the way, purchase a pure bred, either as a calf or one old enough for service, as the individual may desire.

The Farm Bureau will be glad to assist any one in getting better sires or females in the herd.

Inclusive, the County Agent will attend the Farm Products Show at Harrisburg.

The Office Day in DuBois, started November 1st, will be discontinued after this coming Friday, until the first Friday in February, the County Agent being absent on the 11th, 18th and 25th. The Office of the Farm Bureau in Clearfield will be open as usual every day, in charge of the Secretary.

PURE BRED AYRSHIRES BROT INTO THE COUNTY

John McKeage, Mahaffey, recently purchased a small herd of exceptionally fine Ayrshire cattle from one of the best herds in the country, and expects to build up from this foundation one of the best herds of Ayrshires in the State. They can be seen at his farm near Mahaffey at any time.

HOG FACTS

By H. H. HAYNER and
E. M. CHRISTEN
Pennsylvania State College.

A PRICE STUDY.

When the price of live hogs started to ease off this fall, the predominant idea among all pork producers throughout the swine raising section of the middle west seemed to be to get everything that resembled a fat hog onto the market. And so the receipts of hogs at the principal livestock centers have been soaring and with this has come a marked reaction in price. That there would have been some downward trend even though hogs came on in orderly fashion must be admitted, but it is also a fact that the heavy runs had a very depressing effect upon the price. A good many of our Pennsylvania pork producers were caught in the pincers with a seven and eight cent a pound live weight price staring them in the face. But the prevailing manner in which hogs are marketed in this state helped very materially in the total receipts for hogs sold. Probably sixty-five per cent of the hogs produced in Pennsylvania are home butchered and sold as dressed pork. Most of the men who had been disposing of their hogs in this way, found no trouble in realizing twelve and one-half to fifteen cents a pound dressed weight basis. This corresponded to a nine to eleven and one-half cent live weight market and the pinch didn't hurt at all. Under Pennsylvania conditions it seems quite evident that where opportunity exists to dispose of dressed pork through the retail trade it will be of distinct financial gain to take advantage of such an outlet, and particularly will this be true where heavy runs of hogs are bearing down on the live weight price.

1923 International Live Stock Exposition.

Each year the live stock world looks to the International at Chicago for the best efforts of the animal producer. While essentially a fat show a classification for breeding classes is also provided. There is breed, inter-breed, single, pen, carload, and carcass competition. Such a classification must necessarily be based along educational lines. Here then the observer can follow the feeder animal through the fat classes and even the carcass or the hook. Each breed is judged separately in the fat classes and then the best in each breed is brought together for a grand championship. This year the grand championship barrow was a Chester White, weighing five hundred and ten pounds, shown by the Iowa State College. This barrow sold for thirty-seven cents a pound, said to be a record price for a hog on foot. The reserve grand champion was a Berkshire shown in the three hundred and fifty to four hundred and fifty pound class by the University of Minnesota. The Durpc Jerseys had a real contender for these honors in their heavy barrow.

In the show of pens of three the Berkshire men containing the reserve grand champion single barrow was grand champion. They were shown by the University of Minnesota. The reserve grand champion pen were Poland Chinas, shown in the four hundred and fifty to five hundred and fifty pound class also by the University of Minnesota. The carload display brought out the best and best shown in recent years. There were thirty-two carloads shown, and the Hampshires shown by J. M. Ballard, Marion, Indiana, were grand champions. They weighed an average of three hundred and ten pounds. The Durocs furnished the strongest competition for the winning load. Eight loads of Hampshires sold for an average of nine dollars and forty cents per cwt.; ten loads of Durocs sold for an average of eight dollars and ninety-seven cents per cwt.; nine dollars and ten cents was the average price received per cwt. for the five carloads of Chester Whites; Poland Chinas exhibited five carloads, selling them at an average of eight dollars and fifty cents per cwt.; Berkshire had three loads, selling at an average of nine dollars and eighty-three cents per cwt., and the remaining load were Lamworths which sold at seven dollars and seventy-five cents, though they placed second in the light weight class.

At this point, it is well to point out two things. First, that because of a temporary condition of the market at this time, heavy hogs are selling at a premium. This placed a handicap on the lighter hogs that was difficult to overcome. Usually the barrow weighing around two hundred pounds is preferred but just now a three hundred pound fat hog suits the market better. This condition probably will not long prevail. Secondly, it is that the carload of Berkshire barrows, furnished by the Pennsylvania State College, placed second in the largest class of the carload show. They averaged two hundred and nine pounds and sold for ten dollars and twenty-five cents per hundred weight, which was fifty cents higher than the load which placed over them in the two hundred to two hundred and fifty pound class. The Breeders' Gazette says of this load: "The Pennsylvania load of Berkshire averaged two hundred and nine pounds and had merit all through with respect to breed, type and finish."

The carcass contest which is inter-breed competition, was won by Berkshires, both the grand champion and reserve grand champion carcasses being of that breed. In classes of Chester White was two first and one third, Poland Chinas two firsts and one third, Berkshires two firsts, two seconds and two thirds.

Thus we can see that when we take the best each breed can produce and show them against each other, no breed has it all. For example, the Chester White was best single barrow, the Berkshire best pen and best carcass, the Hampshire best carload, the Durocs were a close second in carloads, a strong contender for single barrow honors, and the Poland was reserve champion pen, furnishing keen competition in carcass and carload classes. The job of the breeder is to study his surroundings, pick his breed and endeavor to produce the best possible. It is by this method that his product will compare favorably with his neighbors.

Alfalfa Hay Induces Exercise.

One of the essentials for the production of strong litters is exercise. Without exercise, the brood sows will produce pigs of lowered vitality. The question is—how to get this required activity without actually forcing it by driving the individuals.

Some times the sleeping quarters can be so located that the brood sows must walk some distance for their water and to another location for their regular food. Such arrangements are ideal, but far more often the hog house is the feeding place because of its convenience. Then a plan must be worked out which enables the sows to travel and work to a certain extent without a maximum of inconvenience to the feeder.

IMPROVEMENTS ON DAIRY FARMS SHOW PROGRESS IS MADE

Many Farmers Rebuild
Barns; Some Making
New Ones, Others Improve Interiors.

"PLAN" IMPORTANT

That Clearfield County is making real progress in dairying is shown by the number of farmers who are either rebuilding their old barns or erecting new ones for their dairy herds. A well designed, attractive dairy barn has an appreciable advertising value, especially when the owner derives a portion of his income from the sale of surplus animals. The cost of a new barn, however, should not go beyond the point where the interest on the investment, plus depreciation, will become an excessive load.

The long winter evening is good time to plan the new barn or consider the remodeling of the old barn. Some factors to be considered in building a barn are: climate, topography, drainage, location relative to other buildings, size and stage of your dairy business, fire risk, materials available for construction and local regulations covering the production, handling and disposal of milk. Proper ventilation, plenty of light, and convenience for the herd are important points to be considered.

Plans for dairy barns are available at the office of the County Agent. Men contemplating building are invited to drop in and discuss their plans.

Profitable Crops Can Be Found Only By The Keeping Of Records

What crop grown by Clearfield County farmers brings the greatest money return per hour of labor? Accurate records—the one means of finding it out.

Eighty-two farmers in Lancaster County kept books in 1922 and the results were summarized by the extension farm management department of State College. Wheat returned the smallest income per hour of labor of the six principal crops. It yielded one and three-tenths cents an hour for the average of the eighty-two farms. Tobacco gave the greatest return, paying out sixty-four cents an hour on the labor. Alfalfa ranked second with 39.1 cents an hour, followed by corn with 36.4 cents, potatoes with 36.2 cents and hay with 34.3 cents.

Tobacco consumed the greatest time per acre, taking an average of 242 hours of the farmer's time. The least time was spent on the hay crop with an average of 12.2 hours per acre. The average wage per hour for the six crops was 35.2 cents.

DAIRY PROGRAM AT HARRISBURG SHOW TO BE OF THE BEST

Wednesday and Thursday, January 23 and 24 will be red letter days for dairymen at the Farm Products Show at Harrisburg. Dairymen of Clearfield County attending the show will have an opportunity of sitting in on a varied program of talks by men prominent in the dairy industry.

The dairy program opens Wednesday morning at 9:30 with a talk on the "Economic hay in a rack, built the show an ordinary manger but with slatted sides, a means is provided for a thrifter condition of the breeding herd. Alfalfa or first cutting clover is ideal as a roughage for sows. The smaller stem, finer hay is the best. The brood sows will work at this by eating the leaves and part of the stem. It keeps them busy and contented and at the same time benefits their bodies. Only an occasional forkful of hay will be necessary, therefore, the cost is small while the indirect results are large. No man can afford to winter his brood sows without exercise and for the mineral and protein together as a means for solving the exercise problem nothing will exceed the legume hay proposition.

CLEARFIELD CO. AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING HERE ON WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9TH AT 10 A. M.

Organization Which Is Backbone of The County
Fair, Farmer's Institute and Many Other Worth
While Things, Will Hold Election of Officers.

EVERY FARMER SHOULD BE PRESENT

The Clearfield County Agricultural Society, one of the oldest Organizations in the County, and the oldest Agricultural Organization, will hold their annual meeting and election of officers in the Arbitration Room, Court House, Wednesday, January 9th, beginning at 10:00 a. m. in the morning.

The Agricultural Society promotes the County Fair, the Farmers Institutes over the County, and many other things tending to a greater agricultural prosperity.

Every citizen is eligible to join this Organization upon payment of the annual fee of twenty-five cents per year. This fee is used for postage and other incidental expenses connected with the Organization.

The communities which are to have Local Farmers' Institutes, this coming winter, should send in an application for the same to this meeting. They have a good representation of farmers, from the community, at the meeting. If this is not possible, then a list of the members with their fee of twenty-five cents should be sent with their representative to the meeting.

The work of the Agricultural Society has been outstanding during the past year, especially in the work of the County Fair and the Farmers Institutes. Help to make the year 1924 a better year, if such is possible, by turning out for the meeting, and taking a part in the Organization.

"AVERAGE" DAIRY COW WILL NEVER RETURN A PROFIT

Under present conditions it is impossible to make a financial success of the dairy business unless it is properly and skillfully managed. Markets will never be such that poor cows, regardless of how well they are fed, can return a profit, nor can the good cow poorly kept and managed be profitable. High production is the basis of profitable production. In a study of the cost of producing milk on six hundred and ninety farms in Pennsylvania it was found that dairymen whose herds were producing on an average of over nine thousand pounds of milk per cow per year were producing milk at less than half the cost of those whose herds produced between three and four thousand pounds of milk per cow. It is highly important to know how much each cow in the herd is producing. No dairyman should feel satisfied with a cow producing less than seven thousand pounds of butter fat per year. The Barcock test and milk scales provide the only means of really settling this important question, and the dairyman who fails to use them is adding unnecessary hazard to his chances of making a profit. If by using this means he finds that some of the cows in the herd are producing less than seven thousand pounds of milk he will be money ahead to dispose of them at once.

The price of feed and labor compared with the price of milk is the ruling factor in determining the profit after the owner finds out whether the animal is capable of producing a profit. With prices of dairy products no higher than they were a year ago, and prices of feed fifteen to twenty per cent higher, it behooves every dairyman to analyze his herd very carefully and to start the new year with a resolution that he will find out exactly what each and every cow in his herd is doing. In the average herd of ten cows three or four are making a profit, while the other six or seven are losing money for the owner.

If the year 1924 is to be a financial success to the dairyman, he must weed out these poor producers and save the price of expensive feed and use it for cows that will produce a profit with the proper feed and care.

Importance of the Dairy Industry" by M. D. Munn, president of the National Dairy Council. Other men appearing on the program that day are M. T. Phillips, a prominent Guernsey breeder of Pomeroy, Pennsylvania; Dr. Groves of the Dairy Division at Washington; E. B. Fitts, head of the dairy extension department at State College; Dr. T. E. Munce, of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Harrisburg; and W. D. Combs, in charge of dairy manufacturing at State College.

"Methods of Advertising Dairy Products" by D. S. Root of the Dairymen's League will be the opening talk on Thursday. Problems confronting the dairy manufacturer will be taken up by such men as Ernest Kelly of the United States Dairy Division, J. Ture.

Third Annual Poultry School For Week To Be Held February 4th to 9th

One week of intensive poultry instruction, arranged primarily for the students taking corresponding courses, however, open to anyone in the State who is interested in poultry, will be held at the Pennsylvania State College during the week of February 4th to 9th.

The exercises during the week will furnish an opportunity for discussion and for other work which cannot readily be given through correspondence. The entire poultry plant of the College will be available and used for the work. This includes houses of various kinds, incubators and brooding equipment; several hundred laying White Leghorns and pullets, some of the best record Barred Rock hens for breeding and exhibition flocks of the leading breeds of poultry.

The faculty of the Poultry Department, and the staff of the Poultry Extension Division will devote their time, during the week, to instructing the students.

The program will include feeding, mixing rations, incubating and brooding problems and housing, marketing, judging, poultry farm management and diseases.

A registration fee of one dollar will be charged to cover expenses of material used. Rooms for the week may be had at three to five dollars, while boarding will cost six to seven dollars for the same period.

Anyone expecting to attend this week of instruction should send their name to Professor T. I. Maize, Director of Correspondence Courses in Agriculture and Home Economics, State College, Pennsylvania, or send their name to the Farm Bureau Office, where it will be forwarded to the proper place.

REDUCED FARE TO FARM PRODUCTS SHOW

The different railroads of the State have once more adopted the Trunk Line Certificates, or more commonly known as Farm Certificates, to those who wish to attend the State Farm Products Show at Harrisburg, January 22nd to 25th.

These Certificates can be obtained from the Farm Bureau Office where a sample is on hand at the present time. One of these Certificates will be sufficient for all of the members of one family, and should be properly filled out and identified at the Railroad Station where the ticket is purchased for Harrisburg. The ticket must then be stamped at the State Show at Harrisburg, which will permit when presented at the Railroad Ticket Office, a reduced fare of one-half the return trip, making a total reduction of one-fourth for the round trip.

C. Joslin of the Greenville Dairy Company, Thomas Hall of the Bliss Ice Cream Company at Harrisburg and J. M. McKee, Deputy Secretary of Agricultural United States Dairy Division, J. Ture.

Weather Conditions Bring Drastic Price-Cuts On Men's & Boys' Overcoats

The mild weather combined with our unbreakable rule not to carry merchandise over from one season to another brings you an opportunity to save more money on Overcoats than you have done for years past.

The weather man has not been handing out a good brand of overcoat weather, but promises to make amends soon. Thus it is that this drastic action we take in slashing the prices on Men's and Boys' Overcoats will come in mighty handy for the man who had been putting off buying.

You have most of the cold weather to come. You have a chance to buy a new Overcoat at a greatly slashed price. Come and take advantage of the combination. It means you can save money.
